

Politics 2020

PART 4
PRACTICING DISCERNMENT

Complete my joy by being of the same mind, having the same love, being in full accord and of one mind... Let each of you look not only to his own interests, but also to the interests of others.

-Philippians 2:2,4 ESV

What if our ballot box decisions were made less according to _____ and more according to Biblical _____?

There are no _____ politicians

Scripture gives us _____ about what we should look for when we look for good leaders

There are overriding _____ for our political engagement

- God's people are _____
- God's people are _____

Our _____ should be steeped in _____

Recommended Resources:

- Thou Shalt Not Be A Jerk: A Christian's Guide to Engaging Politics by Eugene Cho

Politics have always been ugly. Is it just us, or do things seem to be getting worse instead of better? While it may be tempting to distance ourselves from the 2020 elections, we've been given both the privilege and responsibility to engage in political conversations and processes. How do we do that in a God-honoring way? Join us as we do our best to view politics through the corrective lens of Scripture.

- | | |
|-----------|--------------------------|
| August 16 | "Politics Matter" |
| August 23 | "Pledging Allegiance" |
| August 30 | "Praying For" |
| Sept 6 | "Practicing Discernment" |